New York, May 14 .- "Strike down our enemy" is the burden of a dispatch sent by the Women's Political union to Miss A. C. Whitney, one of the political bosses of San Francisco. This alleged "enemy" is President Taft and the "striking" which is urged involves a repudiation of the president at today's primaries.

New York women who are working for the vote smiled scornfully when they were asked what they thought of the appeal of the administration to the California women for their support in the primaries. Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, president of the Women's Political union, was so indignant when she read of the attempt to enroll the California women in the ranks of the administration allies that she sat right down and dictated the following telegram to Mrs. Whitney, president of the Citizens' league of San Francisco:

"Taft appeals for your votes. When 16 he was in favor of woman suffrage, but 'political experience has modified' his views. Women hissed his thinly veiled reference to them as Hottentots at the national woman suffrage convention held in Washington on April 14, 1909, and his declaration that if given the vote the 'least desirable' would exercise the franchise. He has failed to modify his views even after the magnificent record made by California women as voters. Strike down our enemy."

One of the attacks on Mr. Roosevelt which raised a laugh, delivered at Dennison, ran li'te this:

"I think it would be dangerous to put a man with Mr. Roosevelt's present constitutional views and with the intoxication he would necessarily feel by reason of getting something that all the great presidents have never gotten; it would not be safe to put him in the White House again.

"He says the reason the American people are going to elect him is because he is necessary for the job. That is the description he gives. Well, I hope the American people will not think he is necessary for the job. I want to call your attention to what the job is that he proposes. It is the millennium that he is going to bring about when he gets into office. All bosses are going to disappear, politics is going to be purer and he is going to have a finger in every community in every state, in every county, and everything is going to heaven.

"If that be true, the millennium is coming, and if that is the job he is going to do it is going to take longer than four years. I teg of you to ask him whether he is going to take a fifth term and why re should not continue in office during his life."

Another sally that brought a response was much like that delivered at Cambridge. France May Have a War In Morocco on Her Hands

FTER all the delicate negotiations which endangered the peace of Europe, but resulted in giving to France a free hand in Morocco, it appears that the French protectorate over the north African sultanate is likely to be maintained only at the cost of a long campaign. Recently the inhabitants of Fez, the capital, rose and massacred French soldiers and civilians, the pretext for the outbreak being that the life of the sultan was threatened by the French. Fearful barbarities were perpetrated upon the inhabitants of the Jewish quarter as well as upon Europeans, and some of the worst offenders are said to have been Moorish women. General Moinier, the French commandant at Fez, has asked for re-enforcements, which have been promised him. One prominent French military authority says that it will require twelve years to subdue Morocco.

FIERY, ITCHING SKIN.

Soothing Remedy That Clears Away The Eruption.

Try It At Our Risk.

When your skin is on fire with an itching, burning eruption that is only made worse by scratching, it is high time to do something.

In our opinion the most certainly satisfactory treatment is our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, for it is truly remarkable in all forms of ecezma and other itching, crusted or scaly eruptions of the skin.

This remedy quickly stops all itching and penetrates the skin pores so that its healing, germ-destroying action reaches the very roots of the

In all torturing and disfiguring skin diseases of children and grown persons Saxon Salve gives quick relief from pain and itching and soon clears away the eruption.

We sell Saxon Salve under a positive promise to give back your money if you are not perfectly satisfied.

FINANCIERS.

Almost every one in this country thinks of financiers as those men who handle millions and hundreds of millions of dollars-the men who conceive and plan the great industrial enterprises, the enormous construction work and furnish the hard dollars to make the promoters dream a profitable reality.

Most people think that only the men who sit behind the mahogany desk in the richly furnished office with a full grown man on guard at the entrance, with millions at their command charged only with the duty of passing upon applications for vast sums of money, are worthy to be called financiers.

These men it will be borne in mind have no difficulty in getting hold of money in practically unlimited quantities whenever the occasion demands—theirs is a one-sided job, the money they always have within their reach and are only concerned with the preservation of the principal sum, while making it earn a small profit.

The immensity of the sums controlled too, makes worry about large incomes really optional and not at all necessary.

The real financier of the nation is a man who can live decently, raise a family, educate his children, pay his church subscription, his lodge dues, carry a life insurance policy, buy his own little home, keep all his other bills paid up, and in all other regards live a decent, respectable, clean life on an income of twenty dollars a week or less.

Can't be done?

There are hundreds of thousands of men in this great land who do that very thing and they are not only the real financiers of the nation, but they are the impregnable fortification behind which the institutions of a free government are secure.

These financiers are the very pick of that great middle class without which no nation can endure and advance.

These are the men who must seek work and, having once obtained a position merit its retention by strict application and conscientious discharge of all the duties that position imposes upon them.

These are the men who must look at and solve both ends of life's problems, earn the income and count every penny of the expense.

These are the men who read and know all about the issues Fair Tuesday. of the day, political and otherwise, and whose conclusion determines the fate of many propositions submitted to the people—the men who are a blessing to their family and to their country and to humanity everywhere.

They are the real financiers.

Modern Parents

Often Warned Against Any Undue Severity

By P. EVAN JONES

T IS a thankless task to be a parent in these exacting days, and I wonder now and then at the temerity which prompts man or woman to assume such hazardous duties. Time was, indeed, when parents lifted their heads loftily in the world, when they were held to be, in the main, useful and responsible persons; when their authority, if unheeded, was at least unquestioned, and when one of the ten commandments was considered to indicate that especial reverence was their due. These simple and primitive convictions lingered on so long that some of us can perhaps remember when they were a part of our youthful creed, and when, in life and in literature, the lesson commonly taught was that the province of the parent is to direct and control, the privilege of the child is to obey, and to be exempt from the painful sense of responsibility which overtakes him in later years.

The children have many powerful advocates, while the parents stand undefended and suffer grievous things. It must surprise some of them occasionally to be warned so often against undue severity. It must amaze them to hear that their lazy little boys and girls are suffering from overwork and in danger of mental exhaustion. It must amuse them-if they have any sense of humor-to be told in the columns of the weekly paper, "How to Reprove a Child," just as they are told "How to Make an Apple Pudding."

As for the discipline of the nursery, that has become a matter of supreme importance to all whom it does not concern, and the suggestions offered, the methods urged are so varied and conflicting that the modern mother can be sure of one thing only-all that she does is wrong.

The most popular theory appears to be that whenever a child is naughty it is his parent's fault, and she owes him prompt atonement for his misbehavior. We should be astonished, if not appalled, if we could see in figures the number of times the average child is unnecessarily censured during the first seven years of life. Punishment is altogether out of favor. Its apparent necessity arises from the ill-judged course of the father or mother in refusing to a child control over his own actions.

I once knew a father who defended himself for frequently thrashing an only and idolized son-who amply merited each chastisement-by saying that Jack would think him an idiot if he didn't. That father was lamentably ignorant of much that it behooves a father now to acquire. He had probably never read a single book designed for the instruction owe my life to this wonderful remand humiliation of parents. He was in a state of barbaric darkness concerning the latest theories of education. But he knew one thing perfectly, and that one thing is slipping fast from the minds of men-namely, the intention of the Almighty that there should exist for a certain time between childhood and manhood the natural production known as a boy.

THE PATH WE NEVER TOOK.

When tender spring returns in waves her mysty green to fling I mind me one who used to love The earthly spring.

One day I found a sweet new path through thickets by a brook-Clematis vines, wild apple trees, And then, our nook!

Her eyes shown blue with great delight wood waves she loved to

"Lets take that little path," she cried. "Next time we go."

But now where are her eager feet, her childlike yes that shown? And I have not the heart at all To go alone.

How lavishly we let it drift, wealth that we counted not,

Dear times together, days and places One has forgot.

If one had known-how could one know?--the end is so soon to be! Oh, words unsaid, why must you haunt My memory?

When tender spring returns in waves her misty green to fling I mind me one who used to love

One of the familiar subjects of discussion these days is the fate of the Titanic-whether it rests upon the bottom of the ocean, or is floating suspended between the top and bottom of the sea. There is also a good deal of discussion concerning the condition of the corpses that are within the ship.

The controversies are usually based upon the statement concerning the pressure at a depth of two miles under water, and out of ignorance of this pressure grows many absurd statements. Yet there is nothing connected with the case that is not fully known to the scientists, nor which ought not to be understood by the layman.

the sea, just as if the water were only a hundred feet deep instead of two miles deep. The pressure has nothing whatever to do with a body sinking, providing the body is heavier than water.

What is meant by "pressure" is this: Suppose you take a tin can a foot square and seal it up-air tight. Here at the surface of the earth the pressure of the atmosphere is fifteen pounds to the square inch, but it is also the same inside the can, because it is filled with air at that pressure. But if the can is sunk to a great depth in the ocean, the pressure on the sides of the can would be so great it would dent the can in, or flatten it. The weight of the water against the sides of the can causes the pressure. But suppose you fill the can with water, or leave the top off of it. Then when it is sunk to the bottom of the sea there is the same pressure from within that there is from without, which amounts to no pressure at all. The water is not compressible, and even if the can were filled with water and sealed up it would not be dented by the tremendous pressure from without.

Now, the Titanic displaces no less water at the bottom of the sea than tain amount of water does it float or sink. If it displaces a greater Wednesday fair; amount of water than its own weight warmer; moderate west winds, be- it floats; if it displaces a lesser amount, it sinks.

West Virginia-Fair: continued | The pressure at the bottom of the sea is due to the great amount of water that rests upon it. FINANCIERS.

Almost every one in this country thinks of financiers as those men who handle millions and hundreds of millions of dollars—the men who conceive and plan the great industrial enterprises, the enormous construction work and furnish the hard dollars to make the promoters dream a profitable reality.

Most people think that only the men who sit behind the mahogany desk in the richly furnished office with a full grown man on guard at the entrance, with millions at their command charged only with the duty of passing upon applications for vast sums of money, are worthy to be called financiers.

These men it will be borne in mind have no difficulty in getting hold of money in practically unlimited quantities whenever the occasion demands—theirs is a one-sided job, the money they always have within their reach and are only concerned with the preservation of the principal sum, while making it earn a small profit.

The immensity of the sums controlled too, makes worry about large incomes really optional and not at all necessary.

The real financier of the nation is a man who can live decently, raise a family, educate his children, pay his church subscription, his lodge dues, carry a life insurance policy, buy his own little home, keep all his other bills paid up, and in all other regards live a decent, respectable, clean life on an income of twenty dollars a week or less.

Can't be done?

There are hundreds of thousands of men in this great land who do that very thing and they are not only the real financiers of the nation, but they are the impregnable fortification behind which the institutions of a free government are secure.

These financiers are the very pick of that great middle class without which no nation can endure and advance.

These are the men who must seek work and, having once obtained a position merit its retention by strict application and conscientious discharge of all the duties that position imposes upon them.

These are the men who must look at and solve both ends of life's problems, earn the income and count every penny of

These are the men who read and know all about the issues Fair Tuesday. of the day, political and otherwise, and whose conclusion determines the fate of many propositions submitted to the people—the men who are a blessing to their family and to their country and to humanity everywhere.

They are the real financiers.

Modern Parents

These simple and primitive convictions lingered on so long that some of us can perhaps remember when they were a part of our youthful creed, and when, in life and in literature, the lesson commonly taught was that the province of the parent is to direct and control, the privilege of the child is to obey, and to be exempt from the painful sense of responsibility which overtakes him in later years.

The children have many powerful advocates, while the parents stand undefended and suffer grievous things. It must surprise some of them occasionally to be warned so often against undue severity. It must amaze them to hear that their lazy little boys and girls are suffering from overwork and in danger of mental exhaustion. It must amuse them-if they have any sense of humor-to be told in the columns of the weekly paper, "How to Reprove a Child," just as they are told "How to Make an Apple Pudding."

As for the discipline of the nursery, that has become a matter of supreme importance to all whom it does not concern, and the suggestions offered, the methods urged are so varied and conflicting that the modern mother can be sure of one thing only-all that she does is wrong.

The most popular theory appears to be that whenever a child is naughty it is his parent's fault, and she owes him prompt atonement for his misbehavior. We should be astonished, if not appalled, if we could see in figures the number of times the average child is unnecessarily censured during the first seven years of life. One of the familiar subjects of discussion these days is the fate of the Titanic-whether it rests upon the bottom of the ocean, or is floating suspended between the top and bottom of the sea. There is also a good condition of the corpses that are within the ship.

But if the can is sunk to a great depth in the ocean, the pressure on the sides of the can would be so great it would dent the can in, or Oh, words unsaid, why must you flatten it. The weight of the water against the sides of the can causes the pressure. But suppose you fill the can with water, or leave the top off of it. Then when it is sunk to the bottom of the sea there is the same pressure from within that there is from without, which amounts to no pressure at all. Columbus Police Hold Girl and Fiance Pending Investigation.

Columbus, O., May 14.-Miss Cece lia Farley, 24, a clerk in the state bureau of vital statistics, and her fiance, Jerome Quigley, 24, a night clerk at the Neil House, are held by the police for investigation in connection with the shooting of A. E. Zollinger, 37, an advertising solicitor. in Franklin park. The young woman, who was with Zollinger at the time, asserts he shot himself, and that Quigley, about whom they had been quarrelling and who was following them, ran up after the shots. The police learned that when Zollinger fell he had a rain coat in one hand and an umbrella in the other. The young woman admitted the revolver used belonged to her. She said Zollinger had taken it from her handbag and shot himself.

Bosses When Slimy Substance Flooded Shafts-Planks Placed On Top of Clay Saved All.

Cape Town, Siberia .- Miners in the diamond pits of Kimberley need not fear fire or falling rock, suffocation by choke damp or sudden death by explosion, but they have perils to face,

One morning a band of natives hard at work in a corner of the mine were startled by a dull noise, as if a few tons of some soft substance had been hurled against the high door that separated the spot where they worked

"The mud!" they cried, and dropped their picks in an instant.

A mud rush means certain death to all in its track. It gives no warning. It comes silently like an ugly, wriggling snake; it works its way swiftly, spares nothing, covers everything.

The Englishmen at the opening to the tunnel roared out, "Climb to the top of the wall!" which the natives promptly did. There for the time at least they were safe.

Soon the tunnel was a tunnel no longer, but a mass of quivering slime. The mud flowed for hours. Then it gradually slowed and ceased.

The Englishmen outside sat around on a neighboring rock and 'looked' down helplessly into the pit. All manner of suggestions were made, most of them worthless, but in the end it was decided to try to reach the men, not by removing the mud, but by passing over it.

One man laid a plank upon the mud and stretched himself on it. A little spade was handed to him, with which he began to cut into the mud and pull himself along as a man face downward in a canoe might pull himself forward with a paddle. He worked bravely on, half-inch by half-inch. Then another man put down a plank

Then another man put down a plank

The began to cut into the mud and which will be began to cut into the mud and pull himself with your kidneys and bladder? Have you pains in loins, side, back and bladder? Have you be a flabby appearance of the face, and under the eyes? A frequent desire to pass urine? If so, Williams' K. Iney Pills will cure you.—Druggist, Price 50c.

mud. There were 65 feet of mud, and between them and it were these thin planks that might keel over at any moment and send them to a suffocating death. And behind was the hidden spring of destruction that might loose its slime again, flood the tunnel and capsize the planks like cockle shells en a turbulent sea.

When the man on the first plank reached the wall on which the natives were huddled he called to them:

"You've seen the way I've come. Well, I'm going back, but I'm leaving the planks for you to follow on. Crawl along the planks as much like a snake as you can."

Slowly the men on the planks slid back, leaving the wooden line behind them. Slowly the natives followed. Nobody spoke. The black mass underneath looked as hard as a rock, but was as soft as porridge and trembled horribly.

As each man reached the end plank he was hauled in to safety and carried half-fainting out of the tunnel. The rest dragged themselves wearily on. When the last native arrived his mates thought he was a stranger. His hair was perfectly white.

Woman Rides in Midair. Toronto. When a newspaper woman was ordered from the unfinished seventeen-story building which is being constructed for the Canadian Facific railway here, on the ground that it was no place for a woman, Mrs. T. D. Wells, wife of the contractor, took exception to a remark that women did not have as good nerve as men. She proceeded to demonstrate her own bravery by riding up to the top of the skyscraper on one of the iron girders as it was hoisted by a crane.

She stood on the girder and waved the Union Jack with one hand, clutching the guy wire with the other as she rode up.

Governor Harmon denied that he is a reactionary, as charged by Colonel Bryan, and cited the main achievements of his administration to prove himself a progressive. The governor declared that Colonel Bryan has not stated one fact from his official record as governor to justify the attacks made upon him. He denied Bryan's charge that there is a Harmon-Underwood alliance in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination, and raised the question of Bryan's sincerity in offering to support Governor Wilson.

Governor Harmon's vigorous references to Colonel Bryan were greeted with great applause.

MAKES DARING TRIP

W. P. Edwards of Reclamation Service Has Thrilling Adventure.

Government Enabled to Build Huge Tunnel Five Miles Long from Gunnison Canyon as Result of Remarkable Feat.

Denver, Colo .- One of the most daring feats that has been accredited to the men of the reclamation service in their battles of converting the deserts of the west into productive farms was the criginal trip through the swift waters of the Gunnison canyon,

In the years previous to the time when the reclamation service went into Colorado and determined upon the diversion of the waters of the Gunnison river, that the arid lands of the Uncompangre project might be reclaimed, man had never passed alive through the Gunnison canyon. There were many tales of adventurous Indians and white men who had attempted the dangers of this canyon, but none of them had succeeded and lived to tell the tale.

W. P. Edwards was the first man to accomplish this feat. He did it on a rubber mattress, inflated with air. Boarding his raft at the headwaters of the Gunnison, he started on the wild ride through its canyon with the idea of prospecting for a possible opportunity to divert its waters and get them upon the desert.

This raft of air and rubber was believed to be immune to the shocks that it would meet in plunging headlong down the currents of this stream. To a large extent, it proved worthy of the confidence that was placed in it. To be sure, it lost upon occasion much of the form which it had in the beginning. It was punctured and mended and reinflated on many occasions. At times it became merely a flabby bag that was thrown over the shoulder of the voyager as he waded down stream over the rapids. At other times it became merely a life-preserver that kept him affoat in deep eddies.

At still other times the raft and its operator clung to the sides of rocks and fought the currents in the face of the danger of going over a cataract into sudden death. But in the end, after passing many dangers, W. P. Edwards and his raft came out of the mountain gorge to where the river spreads out into a quiet stream on the plains below.

When Edwards reached the habitations of man he had with him the data which was the foundation upon which has been based one of the most spectacular engineering feats on record. For the reclamation service has built wagon roads into this precipitous canyou and from a point at its bottom has driven a great tunnel for five miles through solid rock and through that tunnel has diverted the frothing waters and set them to the business of making crops grow upon the desert.

WOMAN LOSES HER VOICE

Trainer of Wild Beasts in Terror When Caged Grizzly Bear Attacks Her Husband.

San Francisco.-Mme. Ricardo, a lion trainer, known as the "singing girl in the tiger's den," is speechless as the result of an attack upon her husband by a bear at Oakland. The woman was one of the few in the gathering at the circus who realized her husband's peril.

When the grizzly bore her husband to the ground the woman screamed for assistance. Ricardo remained quiet, covering his head and face with his arms.

Mme. Ricardo attempted to sing the next day, but found that she had lost her voice. Physicians fear it may not return. Ricardo escaped injury.

Evelyn Exhibits

Wife of Harry Thaw Springs Surprise on Gay New York.

New York, May 14 .- Although the announcement that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is here with a son 21 months old came from sources known to be constantly in close touch with her, it was impossible to get direct confirmation from Mrs. Thaw herself. Her whereabouts was not made known, though it was asserted that she was here.

The announcement that she had determined to demand payment on checks aggregating $15,000, "for the sake of her baby," came as a sensation such as Broadway has not sustained in years.

During Thaw's insanity hearing in 1909 the prisoner was allowed exceptional personal freedom. He was given practically unlimited opportunity for personal association with his family in the comfortable quarters allotted to his use in the county jail by the sheriff at White Plains.

In the spring of 1910 the infant arrived, according to report. All who have seen the baby say that he is a beautiful boy, with curly, raven hair and bright eyes.

Youthful "Dio" Arrested. Columbus, O., May 14.-In Louise

Bart, 14, arrested at the Union station for picking a pocket, the police say they encountered one of the most precocious child offenders ever ar rested. The girl had $67 on her person, which she is accused of stealing from Mrs. Lizzie Williamson of Lena, W. Va., after having been caught trying another and warned to leave the station.

Evelyn

Wife of Harry Thaw Springs Surprise on Gay New York.

New York, May 14.-Although the announcement that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is here with a son 21 months old came from sources known to be constantly in close touch with her, it was impossible to get direct confirmation from Mrs. Thaw herself. Her whereabouts was not made known, though it was asserted that she was here.

The announcement that she had determined to demand payment on checks aggregating $15,000, "for the sake of her baby," came as a sensation such as Broadway has not sustained in years.

During Thaw's insanity hearing in 1909 the prisoner was allowed exceptional personal freedom. He was given practically unlimited opportunity for personal association with his family in the comfortable quarters allotted to his use in the county jail by the sheriff at White Plains.

In the spring of 1910 the infant arrived, according to report. All who have seen the baby say that he is a beautiful boy, with curly, raven hair and bright eyes.

Youthful "Dio" Arrested.

Columbus, O., May 14.—In Louise Bart, 14, arrested at the Union station for picking a pocket, the police say they encountered one of the most precocious child offenders ever arrested. The girl had $67 on her person, which she is accused of stealing from Mrs. Lizzie Williamson of Lena, W. Va., after having been caught trying another and warned to leave the station.

Harmon Speaks At Wooster

Governor Declares Administration Shows He Is Progressive.

Wooster, O., May 14 .- Speaking before a crowd of overflow proportions at the opera house Governor Harmon replied to Colonel Bryan's recent attacks upon him, challenging the Nebraskan's motives and his sincerity. If Bryan really believes his charge that Harmon stands for the special interests, said the speaker, he should cut the governor's acquaint-Governor Harmon denied that he is a reactionary, as charged by Colonel Bryan, and cited the main achievements of his administration to prove himse'f a progressive. The governor declared that Colonel Bryan has not stated one fact from his official record as governor to justify the attacks made upon him. He denied Bryan's charge that there is a Harmon-Underwood alliance in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination, sincerity in offering to support Governor Wilson. Governor Harmon's vigorous refer-

MAKES DARING TRIP

W. P. Edwards of Reclamation Service Has Thrilling Adventure.

Government Enabled to Build Huge Tunnel Five Miles Long from Gunnison Canyon as Result of Remarkable Feat.

Denver, Colo.-One of the most daring feats that has been accredited to the men of the reclamation service in their battles of converting the deserts of the west into productive farms was the criginal trip through the swift waters of the Gunnison canyon.

In the years previous to the time when the reclamation service went into Colorado and determined upon the diversion of the waters of the Gunnison river, that the arid lands of the Uncompangre project might be reclaimed, man had never passed alive through the Gunnison canyon. There were many tales of adventurous Indians and white men who had attempted the dangers of this canyon, but none of them had succeeded and lived

W. P. Edwards was the first man accomplish this feat. He did it on a rubber mattress, inflated with air Boarding his raft at the headwaters of the Gunnison, he started on the wild ride through its canyon with the idea of prospecting for a possible opportunity to divert its waters and get them upon the desert. This raft of air and rubber was believed to be immune to the shocks that it would meet in plunging headlong down the currents of this stream. To a large extent, it proved worthy of that C. P. Luttrell will be a candidate the confidence that was placed in it. for the Democratic nomination for To be sure, it lost upon occasion much Sheriff, subject to the decision of the off the form which it had in the beprimary election to be held on May ginning. It was punctured and mended and reinflated on many occasions. At times it became merely a flabby bag that was thrown over the shoulder stream over the rapids. At other times

At still other times the raft and its operator clung to the sides of rocks and fought the currents in the face of the danger of going over a cataract into sudden death. But in the end, after passing many dangers, W. P. Edwards and his raft came out of the mountain gorge to where the river spreads out into a quiet stream on the plains below. When Edwards reached the habitations of man he had with him the data which was the foundation upon which has been based one of the most spectacular engineering feats on record. For the reclamation service has built wagon roads into this precipitous canyou and from a point at its bottom has driven a great tunnel for five miles | Pitts ... through solid rock and through that tunnel has diverted the frothing waters and set them to the business of making crops grow upon the desert.
